God's Created Order: Women of the Reformation 1 Timothy 2:1-15

Mac Williams, Pastor
October 29, 2023

1. The Reformation strongly emphasized that Jesus Christ is the _____ Mediator between God and man. Salvation is by grace alone, through faith alone, in Christ alone.

2. There were multiple women during the Reformation years who served as magistrates, courageously doing all they could to give believers the _____ to live in all godliness.

a. Marguerite de Navarre. 1492-1549

*"Encased in _____ is the sacred Word
Embossed with markings of a deep blood red,
Sealed with seven seals may now be heard
By those who find that law and grace are wed."
- Marguerite de Navarre*

b. Jeanne d'Albret. 1528-1572

*"A _____ seems so right and necessary that, for my part, I consider that it would be disloyal and cowardice to God, to my conscience, and to my people to remain any longer in a state of suspense and indecision."
- Jeanne d'Albret*

3. There were multiple women during the Reformation years who were homemakers and remarkable examples of God-honoring good works.

a. Anna Reinhard Zwingli. 1484-1538
"The Reformation's Weeping Mother"

*"When the complete Bible was published in 1529, Zwingli gave her a copy; it became her favorite book. She tried to make sure that every _____ in the congregation had a copy at home."
- Rebecca VanDoodewaard*

b. Anna Adlischweiler Bullinger. 1504-1564
"The Zurich Mother"

"Her house was a home to the homeless, as Protestant _____ from all over Europe came to stay. Zurich was an asylum to the persecuted Reformed believers of other countries." - Rebecca VanDoodewaard

c. Katharina Schutz Zell. 1497-1562.
"The Mother Reformer"

*"God is glad when the craftsman at his bench, the maid at the sink, the farmer at the plow, the dresser at the vines and the mother at the cradle break forth in _____ of prayer, praise and instruction."
- Katharina Zell*
