FOR CHRIST'S CROWN
and COVENANT

His foundation is in the holy mountains.
The LORD loveth the gates of Zion
More than all the dwellings of Jacob.
Glorious things are spoken of thee,
O city of God.

Psalm 87:1-3

Those who sense their spiritual poverty and turn to Christ are blessed

- I. Christ's sermon in its context

- II. Christ's blessings on the poor in spirit

- III. Christ's woes on the rich of the world

Confession of Faith XXXII: Of the State of Men after Death, and of the Resurrection of the Dead

I. The bodies of men after death return to dust, and see corruption, but their souls, (which neither die nor sleep,) having an immortal subsistence, immediately return to God who gave them. The souls of the righteous, being then made perfect in holiness, are received into the highest heavens, where they behold the face of God in light and glory, waiting for the full redemption of their bodies; and the souls of the wicked are cast into hell, where they remain in torments and utter darkness, reserved to the judgment of the great day. Besides these two places for souls separated from their bodies, the scripture acknowledgeth none.

- I. The need for a public fast

- II. The doctrine of a public fast

- III. The practice of a public fast

Confession of Faith XXI: Of Religious Worship and the Sabbath Day

V. The reading of the scriptures with godly fear; the sound preaching, and conscionable hearing of the word, in obedience unto God, with understanding, faith, and reverence: singing of psalms with grace in the heart; as also the due administration and worthy receiving of the sacraments instituted by Christ; are all parts of the ordinary religious worship of God: besides religious oaths and vows, solemn fastings (Joel 2:12), and thanksgivings upon special occasions, which are, in their several times and seasons, to be used in a holy and religious manner.
