

JOB
Job's Final Discourse, part 5
Job 31:1-40

Mac Williams, Pastor
November 11, 2012

1. The importance of Christian _____-government.

- a. It is only as one is rightly governed by the Spirit of God through the Word of God in the _____ man that they are outwardly able to live a truly God-honoring life.
- b. It is only those who are rightly self-governed who are best able to _____ in other ways.

2. The key _____ of Christian self-government that Job exemplified.

- a. _____. Since I know that God sees all that I do, I make a firm commitment to guard my eyes from lustful looks.
- b. _____. Since I know that God judges me with righteous standards, I will not deal in deceitful ways with others.
- c. _____. Since I know that adultery is a terrible sin with grave consequences, I will be faithful to my wife.

- d. _____. Since I know that all men are created by God, I will treat others with fairness.
- e. _____. Since God has blessed me materially, I will seek to be a blessing to those in need as I have opportunity.
- f. _____ to God. Since there is only one true and living God, I will not put my confidence in my material possessions as an idol.
- g. _____ for my neighbor. Since God has called me to love others, I will seek to love strangers, fellow workers, and even my enemies.

3. The Christian should expect neither sinless _____ nor hopeless defeat.

- a. There is _____ condemnation for those who are in Christ Jesus.
- b. There is _____ for continued growth and victory through the Spirit of God within.