

1. What are the "Jordan Rivers" that threaten to divide the church today? Which must we be most cognizant of in an assembly like ours at PBC?
2. How can we communicate better as brothers and sisters in Christ (and as a church) to make sure assumptions and misunderstandings are not a common occurrence in our church?
3. Are the Transjordan tribes justified in their construction of the altar? Are the Cisjordan tribes justified in their response to the altar? Why or why not?
4. How do we maintain our anthropology (our view of sinful man), and at the same time, not assume the worst about our fellow brothers and sisters?
5. In what ways are we in danger of prioritizing our personal liberty above others at the cost of unity in the church? How do we overcome such selfishness?
