1. The fundamental _____ of life is who is a true child of God and therefore has genuine fellowship with Him.

- a. Man, by his very nature, is _____ for true communion with God.
- b. It is a great _____ to be part of God's household and to have real fellowship with the one true God.

"We must know from the Lord of the tabernacle what are the qualifications for His service, and when we have been taught of Him, we shall clearly see that only our spotless Lord Jesus, and those who are conformed unto His image, can ever stand with acceptance before the Majesty on high." - Charles Spurgeon

2. The Lord gives the _____ to who can abide in His presence.

- a. By God's grace, the life of the person who can abide in God's presence is characterized by integrity, doing what is _____, and valuing truth in their inner man.

- b. By God's grace, the person who can abide in God's presence loves their _____ by not slandering them, acting in evil ways toward them, or speaking in evil ways against them.
- c. By God's grace, the person who can abide in God's presence esteems people, not by their position in society, but by their _____.
- d. By God's grace, the person who can abide in God's presence holds firm to what is right even at great _____.
- e. By God's grace, the person who can abide in God's presence will not look to _____ their personal wealth in dishonest and unethical ways.

3. The end _____ for all the true children of God is that their Lord will preserve them and enable them to persevere through life as His children.

*"No storm shall tear him from his foundations, drag him from his anchorage, or uproot him from his place."
- Charles Spurgeon*
