

(1-3-16)

DEVILS BEHIND DARWIN: THE SATANIC HISTORY OF EVOLUTION

TEXT: 2 Timothy 3:1 This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

8 Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth...

13 But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them;

15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures...

16 All scripture is given by inspiration of God...

1 Timothy 4:1 Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils;

1 Timothy 6:20 O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding profane and vain babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called:

21 Which some professing have erred concerning the faith...

-Dan Gilbert, Evolution: The Root of All Isms, (1935)

Daniel 11:37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god: for he shall magnify himself above all.

38 But in his estate shall he honour the God of forces: and a god whom his fathers knew not shall he honour...

1 Thessalonians 5:21 Prove all things; hold fast that which is good.

22 Abstain from all appearance of evil.

-Charles Darwin, On the Origin of Species (1859).

"God himself was once as we are now, and is an exalted man, and sits enthroned in yonder heavens!...you have got to learn to be Gods yourselves...the same as all Gods have done before you..." (Joseph Smith, Mormon founder, 1844)

"...the God that I serve is progressing eternally, and so are his children..."

(Brigham Young, Jan. 13, 1867, Journal of Discourses, 11:286; second president of Mormon church)

"If I am to make comprehensible the eternal generation, unfolding or evolution of God out of His own self..." (Jacob Boehme, b. 1575, Aurora)

Ephesians 2:2...according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in the children of disobedience:

-Alfred Russel Wallace (1823-1913)

"He Helped Discover Evolution, And Then Became Extinct... Alfred Russel Wallace...developed some of his most important ideas about natural selection during an eight-year expedition to what was then the Dutch East Indies - modern-day Indonesia...By 1855, Wallace had come to the conclusion that living things evolve. But he didn't figure out how until one night three years later...on the island...ill with a fever...it came to him: Animals evolve by adapting to their environment. As soon as he could, Wallace wrote his theory down in a closely argued, eight- or nine-page paper...He sent that to Darwin...Wallace's letter spurred him to act. The two men published a joint paper in 1858, arguing the theory of evolution and natural selection...The following year, Darwin published his book *On the Origin of Species and rose to fame. Wallace, ultimately, faded into obscurity."

(www.npr.org, April 30, 2013)

"Darwin's Theory Of Evolution - Or Wallace's?...Another Victorian naturalist, Alfred Russel Wallace, came up with the idea after years of living in the Far East...Wallace actually came up with the idea twenty years earlier, says David Quammen, author of the book The Reluctant Mr. Darwin...It never seemed to bother Wallace that Darwin received all the credit."

(www.npr.org, July 1, 2008)

"Alfred Russel Wallace, the forgotten man of evolution, gets his moment...Wallace formed the theory of natural selection, but Charles Darwin's connections ensured he got the glory...Alfred Russel Wallace is far from a household name, but he changed the world...on the remote Indonesian island...Wallace had sent his paper to Darwin to help get it published..."

(www.theguardian.com, Jan. 20, 2013)

"In 1855 he published a short paper, expressing the idea that species are related by descent. In 1858, while lying in his hut feverish with malaria...'There suddenly flashed upon my mind the idea of survival of the fittest...'...the same evening he wrote his manuscript and sent it to Darwin..."

(David Wool, The Driving Forces of Evolution, 2006)

"Wallace lived to see the theory of evolution applied to the life-history of the earth and the starry firmament, to the development of nations and races, to the progress of mind, morals and religion, even to the origin of consciousness and life - a conception which has completely revolutionised man's attitude towards himself and the world and God.

Evolution became intelligible in the light of that idea which came to him in his hut...and changed the face of the universe."

(Alfred Russel Wallace: Letters and Reminiscences, 1916)

"...My earliest experiences on any of the matters treated of in this little work was in 1844...Some of the elder boys tried to mesmerize the younger ones, and succeeded; and I myself found several who, under my influence, exhibited many of the most curious phenomena we had witnessed at the lecture. I was intensely interested in the subject, and pursued it with ardour, carrying out a number of experiments to guard against deception and to test the nature of the influence. Many of the details of these experiments are now stamped as vividly on my memory as if they were events of yesterday...I produced the trance state in two or three boys...and could always be sure that it was genuine..."

(Alfred Russel Wallace, On Miracles and Modern Spiritualism, 1875)

"It was at Leicester that I was first introduced to a subject which I had at that time never heard of, but which has played an important part in my mental growth - psychical research, as it is now termed...Some time in 1844 Mr. Spencer Hall [Spencer Timothy Hall] gave some lectures on mesmerism illustrated by experiments, which I, as well as a few of the older boys, attended. I was greatly interested and astonished at the phenomena exhibited...He also showed us how to distinguish between the genuine mesmeric trance and any attempt to imitate it...This led me to try myself in the privacy of my own room, and I succeeded after one or two attempts in mesmerising three boys...[who] would at once answer any questions or do anything I told them...in this state they could do things which they could not, and certainly would not have done in their normal state...But perhaps the most interesting group of phenomena to me were those termed phreno-mesmerism...Having my patient in the trance...At that time lectures on this subject were frequent...we took every opportunity of attending these lectures and witnessing as many experiments as possible..."

(Alfred Russel Wallace, My Life)

"...We have now come to the consideration of what is more especially termed 'modern spiritualism'...The Spiritualists, beyond a doubt, are in the track that has led to all advancement in physical science; their opponents are the representatives of those who have striven against progress...compare it with that of attraction. Suppose a person wholly new to both subjects,...He is to choose between two assertions, one true and one false, and to lose his life if he choose the false one. The first assertion is that there are incorporeal intelligences in the universe, and that they sometimes communicate with men; the second is that the particles of the stars in the milky way give infinitesimal permanent pulls to the particles of our earth. I suppose that most men among those who have all-existing prepossessions would feel rather puzzled to know which they would have chosen had they been situated as above described...We have now to consider whether this vast array of phenomena which claims to put us into communication with beings who have passed into another phase of existence, teaches us anything which may make us wiser and better men. I myself believe that it does, and shall endeavour, as briefly as possible, to set forth what the doctrines of modern Spiritualism really are...which has led to...the establishment of a new religion. The main doctrines of this religion are: That after death man's spirit survives...gifted with new powers...That he commences from that moment a course of apparently endless progression...Neither punishments nor rewards are meted out by an external power...Now here again we have a striking supplement to the doctrines of modern science...The organic world has been carried on to a high state of development...by the grand law of 'survival of the fittest'...In the spiritual world, the law of the 'progression of the fittest' takes its place...there is for all an eternal progress...There are no evil spirits...Life in the higher spheres has beauties and pleasures of which we have no conception...Every statement I have made is derived from those despised sources, the rapping table, the writing hand, or the entranced speaker...I subjoin a few extracts from...one of the most gifted 'trance-mediums,' Mrs. Emma Hardinge...!...all these are there...chained by their own...passions in the slavery of hopeless criminal desires, hover round those who attract them as magnets...remember that another point of the spiritual doctrine is the universal teaching of eternal progress'...

(Alfred Russel Wallace, On Miracles and Modern Spiritualism, 1875)

"We have now to explain the Theory of Human Nature...more or less explicitly taught by the communications which purport to come from spirits...Man is a duality...evolved...Progressive evolution of the intellectual and moral nature is the destiny of individuals..."
(Alfred Russel Wallace, On Miracles and Modern Spiritualism, 1875)

"It now appears that Wallace's was the more forward looking theory, the more scientific view..."
(Michael Flannery, Nov. 7, 2012; author of, Arthur Russel Wallace: A Rediscovered Life)

"Wallace never maintained that this earth alone in the whole universe is the abode of life...Wallace did not hesitate to express his own firm conviction that Science and Spiritualism were in many ways closely akin. He believed that the near future would show the strong tendency of scientists to become more religious or spiritual..."
(Alfred Russel Wallace: Letters and Reminiscences, 1916)

-Francis Crick, Nobel Prize winning scientist: Aliens in a rocket brought spores to earth to seed it!

-Robert Jastrow, leading NASA astrophysicist - NASA's 1st Pres. of the Commission of Lunar Exploration. Head of NASA's Goddard Int. for Space Studies:

"Scientists have no proof that life was not the result of an act of creation."

"That there are what I or anyone would call supernatural forces at work is now, I think, a scientifically proven fact."

-Carl Sagan: Big Bang came from a Cosmic Egg! (Cosmos, 1980)

-Holywood movies: earth seeded by aliens...

-Pope: Theistic evolution...

"The names of...Wallace...and many other eminent men symbolize the rebirth and rehabilitation of the belief in spirits..."

(Carl Jung, founder of psychology)

1 Timothy 4:1 Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils;