

How to Make a Resurrection Day Cake

Why don't you start a new Easter tradition for your family? A Resurrection Day cake! It's easy and fun to do!

Take a cake. It can be one you made or just one you bought in the grocery store. Next, take a spoon and dig a "cave" out of the side of the cake. Then take a York mint pattie or a cookie or whatever you like, and use it as a "stone". Stand this up next to the "cave" as if the "stone" is rolled away. And behold! The tomb is empty! Jesus is not there! He is risen!

I like to put fresh flowers from my yard on mine, but you can just leave it plain or be as creative as you want. Get the kids involved! They'll probably come up with some interesting ideas!

I use mine as the centerpiece on the table for our Easter dinner to remind us all through the meal that Jesus not only died for our sins, but that He didn't stay dead. No, three days later Jesus was alive again and stayed alive. His resurrection proved that He could and would forgive our sins if we only trust in Him to do so – and when the Lord Jesus comes again, He will then raise us from the dead, too!! His tomb was (and still is!) empty! Hallelujah!!!!!!

As we say to each other on Easter morning, "Christ arose!" Yes, "He arose indeed!"
