First Congregational Church of Pomfret

Worthy is the Lamb Revelation 5:6-14

Living Hope

- ❖ Christ's triumphant victory offers hope, the promise of life after death, resurrection and the renewal of all things
- ❖ The history of the world is ultimately defined by the history of salvation
 - straighten up and raise your heads because your redemption is drawing near (Luke 21:28)
 - learning to read history with Biblical lenses
 - a message that Christians in every age have needed to hear and hold onto
- ❖ Though early believers had confidence in gospel promises, many were baffled and mystified that things were not happening as soon as they expected
 - worldly kingdoms continued to grow in influence
 - Satan insinuated his lies
- ❖ We are far away from the first century in time, but the core issues and key questions we face today are no different
- ❖ "For all the security systems we have, personally and nationally, insecurity abounds in our modern society."

Our Hope in Heaven

- ❖ God graciously peels back the curtain and gives us a "behind the scenes" tour of time and history through the eyes of the Apostle John
 - John is old, exiled, abused, mistreated, scarred and broken hearted over the sorry state of the churches he has served
 - Jerusalem, the city of God, has been destroyed and is now in the hands of pagans
 - there is no messianic throne, there is no messianic kingdom
- ❖ It is a discouraged and confused John who hears Jesus' call to Come up here
 - v. 2, the first thing John sees is a throne in heaven
 - "John, life hasn't gone the way you thought it would, but there is a throne in heaven, with one seated on the throne."
- ❖ Like John, we need to keep focused on the scene in heaven (Rev 5:6-14) if we are not going to be overwhelmed and swept away by the sea of trouble that surrounds us

Look to the Lamb

- ❖ Keep looking at the Lamb that was slain, a picture of
 - Jesus' humility
 - Jesus' submission
 - Jesus's obedience

Personal Reflection

- ❖ Keep looking at the Lamb who is standing!
 - alive with resurrection life and power
 - though the Lamb is alive, His visible wounds remind us of the price paid for our redemption
- ❖ Seven horns, seven eyes, seven spirits
 - in the Bible, the number seven is frequently associated with fullness, completeness or perfection
 - horns symbolize power and strength
 - “The eyes remind us that Christ has sent His Holy Spirit into the world, with all of his omniscience, perfect understanding, and wonderful discernment.” (Alistair Begg)
 - John sees the fullness of the saving ministry Jesus initiates through His Holy Spirit
- ❖ A response of worship (Revelation 5:8-9)
 - because Jesus has purchased us with His blood, our lives are under “new management”
 - people of every time, place, ethnicity unite to praise the One who has bought them back from the slave market of sin
 - a cosmic choir comprised of voices in heaven and on earth, under the earth and even in the sea (Rev 5:12-13)
 - worship in heaven unites with worship on earth
 - the One seated on the throne, the One who rules the world with power and authority knows and cares about you

1. Some members of the first century church were baffled and mystified that things Jesus promised were not happening as quickly as they expected. What things about Jesus’ promises and Jesus’ return baffle and mystify you? Where can you turn or what steps can you take to strengthen your faith as you wait on the Lord regarding these matters?
2. In the midst of John’s many heartaches and struggles, the scene he is shown in heaven provides him with strength and encouragement. John’s focus is primarily on the throne and the Lamb. How does riveting your attention on those two things help in the midst of any challenges or struggles you are facing right now?
3. Read Revelation 5:6-14 again and spend time uniting your heart in worship with the worship that is being offered around God’s throne right now.
