

“Love and Know that You Know God

1 John 2:3-11

- I. John writes to assure his readers that they, themselves, can _____ that they know God (2:3-5, 12-14).
 - a. John begins by saying that he is, in one sense, _____ writing a new commandment to his readers (2:7) yet in another sense (2:8), it is _____ (2:6-8)
 - b. There is another sense in which John can call this a “new commandment” because _____ introduced John’s topic decades earlier, before the start of the church, and called it, “a _____ commandment” (2:8, cf John 13:34).

John 13:34; 15:12-17; Leviticus 19:18; 1 John 3:23-24

- II. John’s writing takes target at those who _____ special status yet, because they hate their brethren, are _____ in darkness (2:8b-9).
 - a. Those who _____ the brethren are light and in them is no offense (2:10).

1 Thessalonians 2:19-20

- b. Those who _____ the brethren are in darkness, they stumble in blindness (2:11).

“Love and Know that You Know God

1 John 2:3-11

- I. John writes to assure his readers that they, themselves, can _____ that they know God (2:3-5, 12-14).
 - a. John begins by saying that he is, in one sense, _____ writing a new commandment to his readers (2:7) yet in another sense (2:8), it is _____ (2:6-8)
 - b. There is another sense in which John can call this a “new commandment” because _____ introduced John’s topic decades earlier, before the start of the church, and called it, “a _____ commandment” (2:8, cf John 13:34).

John 13:34; 15:12-17; Leviticus 19:18; 1 John 3:23-24

- II. John’s writing takes target at those who _____ special status yet, because they hate their brethren, are _____ in darkness (2:8b-9).
 - a. Those who _____ the brethren are light and in them is no offense (2:10).

1 Thessalonians 2:19-20

- b. Those who _____ the brethren are in darkness, they stumble in blindness (2:11).