

THE SONG OF SONGS

Scripture Reading

THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

Scripture Reading
THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

2:8 — “The voice of my beloved...”

Scripture Reading

THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

2:8 — “The voice of my beloved...”

2:13 — “The vines are in blossom.”

Scripture Reading

THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

2:8 — “The voice of my beloved...”

2:13 — “The vines are in blossom.”

2:13 — “Come away with me, beautiful.”

Scripture Reading

THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

2:8 — “The voice of my beloved...”

2:13 — “The vines are in blossom.”

2:13 — “Come away with me, beautiful.”

2:16 — “My beloved is mine, and I am his.”

Scripture Reading

THE SONG OF SONGS 2:8–3:11

2:8 — “The voice of my beloved...”

2:13 — “The vines are in blossom.”

2:13 — “Come away with me, beautiful.”

2:16 — “My beloved is mine, and I am his.”

7:10 — “I am my beloved’s, and he is mine.”

7:11 — “Come away, my beloved.”

7:12 — “The blossoms have opened.”

7:13 — “...O my beloved.”

THE MAIN POINT OF SONG 2:8–3:11

Believers, the longings and delights of committed romance are worthy of deep reflection, since they're designed to reflect our longings for the God who is eternally committed to us.

APPLYING THE SONG TO LIFE

1. Christians, reflect on the rules and responsibilities of romance as God designed it.

APPLYING THE SONG TO LIFE

1. Christians, reflect on the rules and responsibilities of romance as God designed it.
2. Christians, reflect on the way that every committed romance pictures human history.

APPLYING THE SONG TO LIFE

1. Christians, reflect on the rules and responsibilities of romance as God designed it.
2. Christians, reflect on the way that every committed romance pictures human history.

Christians, say with the bride, “Behold, he comes!” (2:8)

APPLYING THE SONG TO LIFE

1. Christians, reflect on the rules and responsibilities of romance as God designed it.
2. Christians, reflect on the way that every committed romance pictures human history.

Christians, say with the bride, “Behold, he comes!” (2:8)

Christians, say with the bride, “I am His; He is mine” (2:16).

APPLYING THE SONG TO LIFE

1. Christians, reflect on the rules and responsibilities of romance as God designed it.
2. Christians, reflect on the way that every committed romance pictures human history.

Christians, say with the bride, “Behold, he comes!” (2:8)

Christians, say with the bride, “I am His; He is mine” (2:16).

Christians, reflect with the bride on the glad Wedding Day (3:11).