NEWS, TECHNOLOGY AND THE BIBLE!

GMO DESTRUCTION:

2 Timothy 3:1 This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves...

Ecclesiastes 7:29 Lo, this only have I found, that God hath made man upright; but they have sought out many inventions.

Revelation 11:18 And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldst destroy them which destroy the earth.

"Study: Herbicide and GM Corn May Cause Tumors, Early Death - New research out of France has linked both an herbicide and a genetically modified corn to organ damage, tumors and early death among rats, prompting a call for greater regulation of GM foods among sustainable agriculture advocates. The study - published Wednesday in Food and Chemical Toxicology - found that rats who were exposed to Roundup, a weed killing herbicide, and rats who were fed Roundup-resistant corn developed mammary tumors, kidney and liver damage and died earlier than those in the control group. According to the authors, this is the first study to examine the long-term effects of genetically modified Roundup Ready corn, or NK603, which is produced by biotech corporation Monsanto and has been approved for use in both the European Union and the United States...'The results were really alarming,' said Professor Gilles-Eric Seralini, co-director of the Risk Quality and Sustainable Environment Unit at the University of Caen, France and the study's lead researcher...The lowest doses administered in the study were lower than levels allowed in both the EU and U.S., according to the study...The fact that groups treated with GM corn alone reacted similarly to those treated with only the herbicide was surprising, says Seralini...According to Monsanto's safety assessment, NK603 is corn into which DNA is inserted to make the plant resistant to the harmful effects of Roundup...In light of these findings the Sustainable Food Trust sees the call to action as...The requirement for foods containing GM ingredients or their derivatives, or from animals fed on a GM diet, to be clearly labeled...The fact that GMO foods are not labeled in the U.S. is 'in my opinion a very severe problem,' said Seralini...'In Europe we have this labeling and it enables us to avoid these compounds if necessary,' he said...He also recommends that the U.S. government rely less on company tests when making regulatory decisions about the company's products..."

Severe organ damage, cancers, etc., are already becoming the norm. Now they are creating "foods" that "tolerate" the most poisonous weed-killers! They have conveniently forgotten that humans have not been "genetically modified" to "tolerate" these toxins and perversions of nature ("Roundup Ready").

Roundup contains glyphosate (a weed-killer).

A study published in 2000 found that Roundup interfered with an enzyme involved in testosterone production in mice. A study on rats published in 2010 found that giving Roundup Transorb orally [to rats] reduced testosterone production:

"A recent study has found that Monsanto's Roundup herbicide may be responsible for causing infertility. After reviewing the many already well-documented negative impacts Roundup has on the environment and living creatures, it is no surprise to add yet another item to the list. Researchers tested roundup on mature male rats at a concentration range between 1 and 10,000 parts per million (ppm), and found that within 1 to 48 hours of exposure, testicular cells of the mature rats were either damaged or killed. According to the study, even at a concentration of 1 ppm, the Roundup was able to affect the test subjects by decreasing their testosterone concentrations by as much as 35%...Much like BPA, glyphosate-based herbicides have the ability to interfere with the natural hormonal balance in the human body...As a result, any plants that are sprayed with roundup carry with them a chemical effect similar to that of other endocrine disruptors, offsetting the hormonal balance and causing adverse effects, despite even the smallest levels of exposure. This in part contributes to the number of males with increased fertility issues in more recent times..."

So, along with plastic (even BPA-free), mosquito-spray, hormones in meat and dairy, etc., we must add GMO-foods to the list of modern assaults upon the testosterone of men!

Soy and corn are GMO today in the U.S. Corn is found in almost every food product (chips, tortillas, and additional ingredients in food processing, such as corn syrup, etc.).

Although Britain does not permit GMO corn in its supermarkets (unlike the U.S.), it is found in most non-organic animal feed (for poultry, pigs and cows).

Man's insane attempt to eradicate the curse upon the ground (without daily prayer, and sweat), only results in greater curses!:

"Agent Orange chemical in GM war on resistant weeds...Farmers all over the US are facing a growing challenge from weeds that are resistant to chemical sprays...Dow Agrosiences says its new GM product is based on a chemical that was once a component of the Vietnam war defoliant, Agent Orange. It is needed they say because so called 'superweeds' are now affecting up to 15 million acres of American crops...The herbicide failed to kill the giant ragweed that had grown on [farmer, Jeremy Leech's] land, strangling his soybeans and his income. Worse, the pungent pollen from the towering pests exacerbated his eight year-old daughter's asthma...Thousands of farmers across the US now face similar problems with weeds that can withstand powerful herbicides. Scientists say it is because of the success of GM crops that were introduced in the mid 1990s...'Roundup was the one that was supposed to do wonders,' says Jeremy Leech's father, Van. 'And it did for the first few years; anybody could raise clean beans. Obviously over the last few years, bean fields are beginning to look more and more like this,' he says, pointing to a field where weeds tower over shrunken crops...We stand in a cornfield surrounded by towering green plants. But there is not an ear of corn in sight. The stalks that surround us are Giant Ragweed, one of the 'dirty dozen' weeds that have acquired resistance to Roundup...So powerful have these monster weeds become, that even spraying them with 24 times the recommended dose of Roundup fails to kill them."

RULES AND DEFINITIONS EVER-CHANGING:

Isaiah 3:12 As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. O my people, they which lead thee cause thee to err, and destroy the way of thy paths.

Isaiah 29:21 That make a man an offender for a word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the gate, and turn aside the just for a thing of nought.

Amos 5:13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time; for it is an evil time.

Matthew 10:21...the children shall rise up against their parents, and cause them to be put to death.

Matthew 24:8 All these are the beginning of sorrows.

10 And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

12 And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold.

"Allowing your kids to play on scooters outside the house on a quiet street seems innocent - and common - enough. But a Texas mom was arrested and spent the night in jail after a neighbor complained that the children were unsupervised. The parent, [stay-at-home-mom] Tammy Cooper, disputes the 'humiliating' charge, saying she was watching the kids, ages 6 and 9, the whole time from a lawn chair. But police took the neighbor at her word, and a few hours after the call, arrested Cooper for child endangerment. Cooper told KPRC that the arresting officer told her, 'We're here for you.' The accused parent spent the night behind bars. 'Orange jump suit, in a cell, slammed the door, for 18 hours,' she said. Cooper is suing the La Porte Police Department,

"Nick Clegg outlines new domestic violence guidelines...details were unveiled by the Government department on widening the definition of domestic abuse to include those aged 16 and 17 as well as a wider range of coercive or threatening behaviour...The definition will not be written into law, but it will be broadened to include 'any incident or pattern of incidents of controlling, coercive or threatening behaviour, violence or abuse between those aged 16 or over who are or have been intimate partners or family members regardless of gender or sexuality'...He added: 'When you say domestic violence people think that's one act of physical violence, but actually psychological and emotional coercion, abuse over a long period of time is just as unacceptable and that is why we as a Government are saying we are changing the definition, we are saying it's not just about an act of violence, but it's also about coercion over a long period of time'..."

["The time is fast approaching when parents will be advised to turf any rebellious children out onto the streets the moment they turn 16, just to protect themselves from being falsely labeled as perpetrators of domestic violence. There are already many false and serious allegations made by children against teachers. This change will put parents in fear of their offspring."]

RACING TOWARD THE MARK OF THE BEAST:

Genesis 11:6 And the LORD said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be restrained from them, which they have imagined to do.

Revelation 13:16 And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads:

17 And that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

Mark: "To make an INCISION; as to mark sheep or CATTLE by cuts in their ears." (Webster's Dictionary, 1828)

"Is the Mark literal? Yes...How can it be any other than a LITERAL mark?...It is something which is to be shown in the market..." (Robert Govett, Revelation: Literal and Future, 1843)

"We of today should take serious note of the powerful centralizing motion of society all over the earth. More and more does authority pass to officials...General regulations increase in number and scope, designed at first to meet critical social conditions...[but] all work in the direction of that final and detailed control of the masses [by Antichrist]." (G. H. Lang, The Revelation, 1945)

"FAMILY GETS COMPUTER CHIPS IMPLANT - Boca Raton, Fla. - A Florida family on Friday became THE FIRST TO BE IMPLANTED with computer chips...They are similar to chips implanted in pets to identify them if they are lost. The family wanted the implants in case of future medical emergencies...." (AP, May 2002)

Now, notice some recent news, as the U.S. falls into "Obama Care" - and beyond!:

"Just outside of San Antonio, Texas, an honor student has stepped out of formation to protest the 'Student Locator Project' just launched by the huge Northside Independent School District (NISD). The program would compel 4,200 pupils in John Jay High School and Anson Jones Middle School to wear radio frequency identification (RFID) microchips embedded in the student IDs worn around their necks...Each chip has a 70-foot range. In what functions like an indirect head tax, the NISD concedes that if tracking each student improves student attendance, the district gets more state revenue...On the first day of school August 27, the NISD officially launched its mandate that all the students at those two schools must wear the tags, each of which emits a unique signal for a particular student. Miss Hernandez is refusing to wear her device based on her religious beliefs...'Those tags don't turn off when students leave school, and that makes parents wonder about predators'...NISD says it will only track students during the school day on school grounds...Liz McIntyre, who co-authored the book SPYCHIPS: How major corporations and government plan to track your every move with RFID, with Ms. Albrecht, pointed out to AMERICAN FREE PRESS that students could abandon their tags or trade them. Therefore, a certain 'chip' may register a particular student as 'present' in the building, but the student IDed with that chip may have left the campus, or a chip may show a certain student is somewhere 'on campus,' but it could be worn by someone else, left in a locker or abandoned. There are also concerns that someone off campus with a chip reader could follow a student after school hours because the chips never turn off, Ms. McIntyre confirmed...NISD Communications Director Pascual Gonzalez said that the tag rule wouldn't be fully implemented until about mid-October. Gonzalez was confident that dissent would be stopped. 'Once it's fully implemented, she'll follow the rules like anyone else,' he said of Miss Hernandez, speaking to AFP September 7, implying that the view of one must be subordinated to the alleged needs of the herd. 'She [Miss Hernandez] is making a big deal out of it - one student out of 4,200'...Gonzalez dismissed the protestors as out-of-towners - as if concerns from outside of the district, by definition, are automatically irrelevant...According to Ms. McIntyre, the chipping industry seeks vulnerable subjects like those in poorer schools, such as John Jay and Anson, to 'get their foot in the door' where single-parent families and other stressed households are too busy making ends meet to object...In the NISD, which is the fourth largest district in Texas, there are 112 buildings and an estimated 100K students. Gonzalez inferred they'll all be tagged eventually, meaning that a district with a population rivaling that of sizable U.S. cities would be wired for surveillance, like it or not...NISD already has installed digital cameras in all school buses and in every building except elementary school facilities...while manufacturers and the government want you to believe that they would never misuse the technology, the future looks like an Orwellian nightmare when you consider the level of surveillance and tracking these chips embody..." "A growing number of school districts have begun to incorporate the same kind of high-tech radio-frequency identification (RFID) systems used successfully by prison administrations to better control and manage state and federal prison populations. The latest example is found in Texas...We must ask ourselves: Have schools perhaps gone too far by tracking students with an overly intrusive method that prison guards use to oversee their inmates?"

"Driven by advances in technology, customer requirements, and growing demand for Integrated Automated Fingerprint Identification System (IAFIS) services, the FBI has initiated the Next Generation Identification (NGI) program...The future of identification systems is currently progressing beyond the dependency of a unimodal (e.g., fingerprint) biometric identifier towards multimodal biometrics (i.e., voice, iris, facial, etc.)...The NGI Program will advance the integration strategies and indexing of additional biometric data that will provide the framework for a future multimodal system that will facilitate biometric fusion identification techniques...Privacy considerations have been built into NGI."

be able to pinpoint anyone...the New York Police Department began photographing irises of suspects and arrestees in 2010, routinely telling suspects that the scans were mandatory, despite there being no law requiring defendants to have their irises scanned...In March 2012, New York Governor Andrew Cuomo signed a law allowing DNA evidence to be collected from anyone convicted of a crime, even if it's a non-violent misdemeanor. New York judges have also begun demanding mandatory iris scans before putting defendants on trial...students in Pinellas County, Fla., are actually subjected to vein recognition scans when purchasing lunch at school...Of course, the government is not the only looming threat to our privacy and bodily integrity...For example, a new Facebook application, Facedeals, is being tested in Nashville, Tenn., which enables businesses to target potential customers with specialized offers..."

"School cafeteria's palm scanner is 'mark of beast,' says parent - An elementary school in Louisiana introduces a palm scanner to help kids pay more quickly for their lunch. Parents are seriously freaked. Seriously...not everyone believes that, for example, giving 24-Hour Fitness your fingerprint in order to lose a little blubber is such a natural, safe act. Take certain parents at Moss Bluff Elementary School in Louisiana. Their arms are raised up high in celestial fright at the school's heathen attempts to introduce a palm scanner into the cafeteria...Mamie Sonnier, a very concerned parent, told KPLC-TV: 'As a Christian, I've read the Bible, you know go to church and stuff. I know where it's going to end up coming to, the mark of the beast. I'm not going to let my kids have that'...The school is perplexed that the scanner has incited such a reaction, Its principal, Charles Caldarera told KPLC-TV: 'I think a lot of this has to do with religious beliefs. I think some people feel it's something with the Bible, mark of the beast. It's technology that is used throughout our lives. Everywhere'..."
